Choir To Sing Unusual Piece

"The Peaceable Kingdom" is seldom sung because of difficulty of presentation, according to William J. Erlendson, director of the college A Cappella choir.

The choir will sing the work as the featured part of its annual concert, which begins at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow in Morris Dailey auditorium.

The selection was written by Randall Thompson for an eight-part chorus. This is the first time the piece will be heard in San Jose, Mr. Erlendson said.

Other presentations will be "Come Jesu, Come!" a motet for double chorus by Bach; Palestrina's "Sicut Cervus;" and Lotti's "Crucifixus."

The last half of the program will include "Prayer to the Father of Heaven," by Vaughan Williams, "Brazilian Psalm," by Berger and "The Three Kings," by Willan.

Student Dorm Plans Revised

Men's and women's dormitories, seven stories high, are now in the revised master plan for the college, according to Joe H. West, dean of students.

Dean West, reviewing changes made in the plan at a Friday luncheon meeting of the Faculty Men's club, pointed out that previous plans called for dormitories only three stories high. The dormitories, along with a new Student Union will be situated on Ninth street.

Old San Jose high school grounds will be the site for new administration, psychology, and social science buildings. The three edifices will face due north, rather than parallel to present structures, he said.

Appropriations now in the governor's budget for additions to the library and science buildings and a new men's gym are being given further study, he said.

Peasants Revolt Against Oppression in Drama

"The Sheep Well," by Lope de Vega, is a drama of the revolt of the peasants of a Spanish village against the oppression of a local war lord, Dr. James H. Clancy, director, says.

The action takes place in the period of Spanish history when the country was becoming nationalized under the rule of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella. Feudal lords were still in power in many communities.

The village of Fuente Ovejuna (The Sheep Well) was no exception to the trials by the aristocracy. An antagonistic commander, played by Craig Thush, made his headquarters in the village.

The villagers put up with oppression until he attacked the daughter of one of the leading villagers, Laurencia, played by Cherie Brigham. Their patience tried to excess, the villagers rise in revolt and kill the commander, an unheard of act in those times.

When the king and queen send an officer to the village the peasants stick together and will not tell who struck the killing blow.

The story ends happily when the royalty pardons the village and promises a more just commander.

There are no "main characters" in the play, as such, because the group is the protagonist, Dr. Clancy explains.

The cast of 22 will hold its first dress rehearsal tonight. The opening performance is Feb. 27. It will run Feb. 28, Mar. 5, 6 and 7. Tickets are available for 50 and 75 cents in the Speech office.

Athlete Work Fund Drive Will Continue

A one week extension of the athlete work-fund drive was announced Friday by Bill Spencer of the Food Machinery and Chemical corporation.

Spencer, a member of the Spar-Tens club, said that the reason for the extension was to provide time for more people to contribute to the fund.

The clubman went on to say that announcements will be broadcast over four local radio stations during the week. The NBC and CBS radio outlets in the Bay Area will feature the drive on several sports programs.

Sigma Chi, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Kappa Alpha social fraternities bolstered the drive with collections in the downtown area Saturday.

Organizations collecting funds on campus are Spartan Shields, Rally committee, AWS, and Sigma Chi.

Revelries Trio Finish College With Two Hits

The show is over. "Hey Mac!" closed Saturday evening after four nights of performances before capacity crowds in Morris Dailey auditorium.

The final performance was the swan song of co-authors Mary Hall and Dave Woods and composer Maurice Bodwell. The trio close their college careers this year with two consecutive hits behind them. They were responsible for "Kiss Me Hello."

Speaking for himself and Woods, Hall said they were most pleased with the outcome of "Hey

DAVE WOODS
... Two Big Hits

Mac!", and believed it was much improved over "Kiss Me Hello."

"Last year we were aiming for laughs," he said. "This year we wanted to tell more of a story."

The co-author praised the cast for their excellent performances and complimented Carolyn King especially, who took over the leading role of Laddie two weeks before opening night. He also praised Jim Bernardi, assistant production director, for his endless and untiring assistance backstage.

The cast and crew showed their appreciation of Bernardi Thursday evening when they dedicated that night's performance to him.

Spartans showed their approval of "Hey Mac!" by their demand for tickets, which equalled if not surpassed last year's. Jim Porter, business manager said.

Modern World Still Applies da Vinci Ideas

If Leonardo da Vinci were alive today, he probably would not be much amazed at our modern scientific developments.

Judging from the exhibition of his inventions now on display in the Women's gym, he would take a knowing look at our modern wonders, shake his head approvingly, and say "I told you so."

The models of his ingenious work reveal an amazing foresight into our present engineering principles, and demonstrates them on a simple scale.

One of the favorites of the exhibition, according to Roberto A. Guatelli, who made the models, is da Vinci's clock. This clock, though lacking the polished appearance of our non-winders, can at least compete in endurance. The original model, now in Milan, has been running for 450 years.

Another favorite, for the women, Roberto says, is the fabulous revolving stage, a near man-made mountain. The stage was built for the Duke of Milan in 1496 for the performance of "Paradiso," which was to celebrate the marriage of Gian Sforza and Isabella of Aragon. It was destroyed by the Duke after the performance was over.

San Jose should act on the Rutgers letter on racial discrimination without waiting to hear how other colleges act on it, according to Jim Downs, recently-appointed head of the college's racial discrimination committee.

"Rutgers wrote the letter to this college. They were asking our opinions, not those of the entire state," Downs said. "We are obligated to answer their letter as soon as possible."

The Rutgers letter was sent to 800 colleges and universities around the nation by the student council of Rutgers university. It suggests a plan for eliminating discriminatory clauses in the constitutions of on-campus groups. The letter calls for such action to be completed by 1960.

Instead of immediately answering the letter, the Student Council voted to send letters to four other colleges in this state asking what action they were taking. The council would put off any action until receiving answers to these letters.

Downs said that he planned to write a rough draft of an answer to Rutgers, essentially supporting the plan. He will submit the draft to the committee which will go over it before approving it and submitting the letter to the Student Council. The racial discrimination committee will hold an open meeting Friday afternoon.

Commenting on the proposal that a national convention be held to discuss the issue, Downs said that the college should show a willingness to attend, but only if a majority of the colleges contacted by Rutgers agree to attend.

"If less than a majority of the colleges attended the conference, those attending would find themselves obligated to take action which might hurt them. Only the action of a majority will have weight enough to do any good."

Commenting on the proposal that a national convention be held to discuss the issue, Downs said that the college should show a willingness to attend, but only if a majority of the colleges contacted by Rutgers agree to attend.

Government by Octopus

There are times when this student body reminds one of a rather feeble-minded octopus; a creature with great power, many tentacles, and little idea of what its numerous extremities are up to at the moment.

Councils, committees, sub-committees, advisory groups, all arms of the student body, rarely seem to know that one or the other is doing. Sometimes this lack of coordination is merely humorous, such as the scheduling of the Junior Prom for the night preceding Easter Sunday.

Such lack of planning and foresight, however, could have more serious consequences.

A while back, the Spartan Daily backed a tentative suggestion by Representative-at-large Jerry Ball that a committee be formed to study simplification and modernization of student government. Apparently everyone but the Daily has forgotten about the suggestion, for no action has been taken in that direction. The Daily has not forgotten, and will keep plugging for such a plan.

Now there is a proposal to hold monthly combined class council meetings. The purpose of the meetings would be to coordinate more closely the activities of the various classes.

Again the Daily voices its approval and pledges its support of an idea that would make for better student government. It is to be hoped that this idea does not die as Ball's apparently has.

An octopus with ideas might have a chance to improve its status. But a forgetful or negligent octopus would seem fated to blunder about interminably in the murky depths.

Thrust and Parry

Names in the News

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The Spartan Daily is perhaps one of the finest college newspapers in the state of California. It offers experience to students in the field of journalism and articles of interest for nearly everyone on the campus. I truly admire the tremendous work you people put forth in each issue. I would, however, like to recommend to your type setter or editor a very fine friend of mine in the optical business. Although it is quite possible for him to fit you with special lenses for reading letters upside down, I'm sure he can also make your vision clearer. In any event, I call to your attention the Thrust and Parry article in the Spartan Daily of Monday, Feb. 16, 1953 on the relocation of the bulletin board. The signatures of several students and one faculty member were listed below the article. Out of the 11 signatures listed, four were misspelled.

Now this letter is not written with any malice as I fully realize that each of us is subject to frequent errors of many kinds and that perhaps the fault is not entirely yours, but rather the sloppy signatures you were forced to copy. I also realize that some mighty queer names crop up in your daily experience, but surely some would come to your attention as being irrational and worth a check up of some kind or other. There are, I believe, records of holders of ASB and Faculty cards from which to check on the accuracy of names.

In the course of your experience, you will find that the sweetest sound anyone hears is that of his own name. It is a gross insult to this individual (at least he feels so) to be called by some other names. Carrying this a little further, we may apply the same rules to names listed in periodicals. It is perhaps one of your most important duties to make sure names are spelled accurately.

I have typed the names of those signing this letter so you'll have no reason for error a second time. May God help you.

Safety Prexy Says 'Thanks'

Melville B. Duffey, president of the Santa Clara county chapter of the National Safety council, in a letter addressed to the Spartan Daily, extended thanks to the Daily and Sigma Nu fraternity for help in the recent "safety lane" program.

"The men of Sigma Nu supplied the personnel required to make the safety check the success it was," Duffey said.

The safety check, which included inspection of wheel alignment, brakes and other safety factors, was held three days last week.

Free checks were made from 10 a.m. to noon, and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

Tickets for the function can be obtained all week from any member of GAX or at the booth near the Library Arch.

Traffic Stops As Ike Swings

Washington (UP) — President Eisenhower swings a mean golf club. It even stops traffic.

The nation's number one golfer stepped onto the White House lawn to sharpen his short iron game Friday. You couldn't miss him in his sporty white sweater, grey slacks and cap.

Some of his fans gathered along the south fence to watch. Curious motorists halted in the middle of the late-afternoon rush, parked their cars anywhere, and joined the crowd.

The pile-up developed such proportions that traffic was thoroughly snarled. It didn't straighten out until the President rang down the curtain on the impromptu show 45 minutes later.

Seniors will have another chance to buy yearbooks, as 250 more have been ordered," stated John Tillotson, business manager.

The original order of 2500 La Torres, said Tillotson, was more than the college ever has ordered. Many seniors, however, have not yet bought their yearbook, and this is the reason for the extra order.

Yearbooks will be on sale immediately after senior lectures and also may be purchased in the Graduate Manager's office.

Fourth Loop Win

Hand USF First CBA Loop Loss

By BOB SMITH

The Spartans added another first to their athletic record books Friday night as they became the first cage squad to win a conference game from the University of San Francisco Dons this season.

The Staters started fast and were never behind as they won their fourth consecutive CBA contest. This time against the league leaders, 58-46.

A near-capacity partisan throng watched Coach Walt McPherson's five jump to a 16-6 first quarter advantage that completely upset the green and white.

Forward Don Edwards pushed in two quick field goals in the second minute of play and Guard Carroll Williams, who played his most spectacular floor game of the year, scored on a quick pass from the left of the key to give the Spartans a 6-0 lead that they never lost.

Edwards and Williams each added another two-pointer as did Center Fred Niemann and Forward Dick Brady in the first period.

USF was able to garner only one shot from the floor in this period, that by Guard Phil Vukicevich after seven and a half minutes had passed. Vukicevich had five of the Dons points in this quarter.

The Dons had only 23 points at the end of the third quarter but came back fast to double that mark in the last period.

The Spartans were outscored in the second period, 10-7, as they netted two field goals. The first one was by Brady after seven minutes had elapsed and the other was dumped in by Forward Bill Abbott in the final minute before intermission. Abbott was the Spartans high scorer for the night with 12 points. Vukicevich and Don Center Frank Evangelho had the same number for the visitors.

Evangelho scored five points in the second period to help the Dons close the gap to 23-16 at half time.

In the third quarter the Spartans continued to show class on the rebounds and had their plays working for points as they climbed back into a safer lead at the end of the period, 34-23.

Brady and Edwards scored eleven in the contest and Williams and Newt Hodgson followed with eight each.

The Dons had 56 chances from the free throw line and were able to score on 26 occasions. The Raiders hit for 22 charity tosses out of 38 taken.

In the preliminary game, the Spartababes were handed their second defeat of the season by the powerful Don yearlings, 51-45.

Forward Darol Smith of the Dons scored 21 points as 6'8" center Bill Russell was held to 14. Lee Megginson and Don Hughes led the Raider frosh with 14 and 11 points, respectively.

SAE, 101 Manor Lose First Tilts

Sigma Pi fraternity threw the IFC league into a four-way tie for first place last Wednesday night by upsetting Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 27-24, in the Men's gym.

For SAE it was their first loss in seven games. They, Sigma Pi, Theta Chi, and Delta Upsilon now are tied for first place.

In Independent play, an undefeated team fell by the wayside Monday, when the Banana Kids dumped 101 Manor, 49-42 to remain tied for first place with the Foul Balls and Collegians. It was the first loss in seven games for the Manormen.

Intramural play resumes tonight in the Men's gym with eight games scheduled.

Key game will be at 9 o'clock in the IFC league, when Sigma Pi meets Delta Sigma Phi. The Sigma Pis must win to stay in first place.

Spartan Nine Opens Slate Against Oaks

Coach Walt Williams' Spartan baseballers open the toughest schedule in SJS history when they play the Palo Alto Oaks, semi-pro nine, at Municipal stadium Saturday.

To justify the rugged 35-game slate, Williams has a team that probably is the best he has coached in his seven years as baseball mentor here.

Johnny Oldham, an NCAA all-Coast selection last year as a sophomore, heads a mound staff that possesses both depth and talent. Sophomore Doug Bochner, possessor of an 1.11 earned run average last year, and Ron Kaufman, a fireballing transfer from West Contra Costa college, are two top-notch hurlers.

Ron Palma at second and Cookie Camara at shortstop are expected to be a brilliant keystone combination.

Bob Poole probably will be handling the slants of the pitchers.

Don Visconti will get the call at first base and Jack Richards, a letterman last year as a freshman, will handle third base.

Jim Colter, Ralph Cleland, and Gene Salvador seem to be choices for the three outfield spots.

Track Rosters To Be Released

Rosters of five teams competing in the inter-class track meet Mar. 5 and 6 are nearly complete and will be released this week. Bud Winter, inter-class meet director, announced Friday.

Fraternities and sororities who are interested in backing a team should sign up before Mar. 1, Winter said.

Trophies will be awarded to the best rooting sections as well as to participants.

The teams will be divided into varsity and novice divisions.

San Jose State college was authorized in 1946 to give graduate work leading to the general secondary credential.

Spartababes Dunked by Indian Frosh

Repeating the performance of their varsity earlier in the week, the Stanford freshman swimming team defeated the San Jose State frosh 65-19 Friday afternoon in the Farm pool.

Score of Friday's meet was exactly the same as the final results of the SJS-Stanford varsity competition held Wednesday evening in the Spartan pool.

Husky Dale Anderson saved the Spartababes from a shutout in the first place department when he won the 200 yard breaststroke in 2:38.8. Spartan Jay Alesandro captured third in this event.

Bill Hassel and Ted Graybill took second and third respectively for SJS in the diving.

Times in the sprints surpassed those turned in at the varsity meet. In the 30 yard freestyle, Stanford's Carver Nixon negotiated the distance in 24.2 and Chuck Clemens churned through the water to win the 100 yard freestyle in :55.0. Clemens also won the 220 freestyle.

The none-too-successful starts by the Spartans' swim team can be attributed to the fact that they opened the season against the toughest opponents on their slate. Both the varsity and the freshmen Stanford teams won PCC championships last year.

Boxers Seek To Even Count With Bengals

Seeking revenge for a 5-4 loss earlier this season, Coach Chuck Adkins' boxing team will meet Idaho State college here Mar. 6.

The Raiders dropped their close match at Pocatello, Idaho, against a team considered to be one of the best in the nation. The Northwestern squad has yet to lose a dual match this season.

Thus far this year, SJS has won one, lost one, and tied three dual matches. The lone victory was over San Francisco State. The Spartans earned draws with Washington State, Idaho university, and the University of Nevada.

The college ring teams have lost only four dual matches in four years.

Audio-Visual center is looking for men to work as projectionists during their free time for 90 cents to $1.25 an hour.
